A Lady's Experience in China.

Arrived in Canton I soon obtained an introduction to the chief families of the city, and in due time was introduced to the ladies of numerous households. Sometimes it was no easy matter to unearth the ladies, so many dark passages, closets, chapels, fish-ponds, bridges, corridors of flower-pots. I was often fain to attach myself to some feminine servant or child, to be conveyed to where the head wife held her courtusually in a large hall or veranda, tuless she chanced to be asleep in a cupboard. Once in the preserce of the mandarin's wife, I was received with the politeness of a well-bred gentlewoman, placed on the seat of honor, which resembles an English side-board with the legs cut short, and peculiarly uncomfortable to sit upon, and immediately entertained with tea and sweetmeats.

There was no awkward surprise or embargasment evinced at most and the papers on better the order of sure in securing signatures to a paper asking the President to revoke it.

There was no awayard surprise or embarrassment evinced at my unex-pected visit. If I had dropped from the moon it would have been the same; they would have received me with the same would have received me with the same placidity. I was a stranger and a guest, and, although never coolly reserved or distant, we always ended by becoming quite insimate friends. Chinese ladies are not yet civilized enough to display "company manners," and when, as we became better acquainted, I displayed all my finery for their delectation, they did not attempt to conceal their surprise and amusement. They could not underand annisement. They could not under-stand the complication of ends, bows, strings, fringes and buttons which adorned my dress—ends which were not to be tied, and buttons which were not to button. But what shocked them was the waist and definition of the fig-are consequent upon encircling it. They consider this custom of ours as

They consider this custom of ours as sutraging both modesty and health. By a little ruse I got the better of them, for Chinese are very much smaller women than Europeans, five feet being more than the average height; consequently I fastened my clockure easily word any of them average means and them. quently I instened my cincture easily yound any of them, except one pudgy sld lady, who puffed and gasped, and sectared she was being suffocated while we tugged at the clasp. The valiety and shape of my garments were a pource of marvel to them, and the number a matter of contempt (yet I had only thirty-five, the smallest number a lady can be dressed in). My jewelry they invariably pronounced bad gold; for the Chinese use the poor ore, without alloy, and their ornaments have that lender, beautiful color known as "virgin gold." Nevertheless, they had all the "women's fancy" for "trying on," and it was a curious spectacle to behold a score of Chinese women each sporting some article of European attire, laughing and enjoying the fun with the vivanity of children. Indeed, many of their number, although married women, were little more than children; for the Chinese women marry so young that they the Chinese use the poor ore, withnese women marry so young that they have scarcely left off playing with dolls before they have a baby to handle; and then surely their trouble begins.

FALL RIVER, MASS, July 19 .- At meeting of the Manufacturers' Board of Trade, Saturday evening, to take into consideration the future action of the mills of the city, it was voted that a reduction of 10 per cent, be made on the prices paid the operatives, to take effect on the first Monday in August. The market for printing cloths is unusually market for printing cloths is unusually dull, and while many manufacturers were strongly in favor of stopping the malls for a month or two, or until the market recovered acmewhat, it was finally thought bost for the interests of their milts and all concerned to make a reduction and keep 'ee milts running. There is hardly a doubt that the operatives will accept the reduction. In case of a strike, or a pattact strike, as was made last winter, there will be a general lock-out.

Our Six Shooters.

Another Excellent Day's Work for the Americans-Still Victorious. LONDON, July 19.—The ties of Saturday, at Wimbledon, for the St. Leger sweepstakes, was shot off to-day. Fulton, of the Americans, won; Mitchell, ton, of the Americans, won; Mitchell, second; John Rigby, third.

In the shooting for the Albert prizes at the first range, Glidersleeve, Fulton and Coleman, of the Americans, each made 34 points out of a possible 35, while liamitton, Petty, Wyatt, Greenhill, Rigby (the latter two of the Irish eight), made 35 points. At the second range only Greenbill and Rigby maintained close competition with the Americans, scoring 32 points each.

In the match for the Rifle Association cup, in which each man has ten shots at 600 yards range, Coleman scored 49 out of a possible 50, leading the large number of competitors. Glidersleeve made 48. The excellency of the Americans' marksmanship causes much astonishment.

District Attorney Fisher's Case—
Yellow Fever—In the South, etc.
Washington, July 19.—Every effort is being made by the friends of District Attorney Fisher to secure his retention in the position, but it is not believed there is the slightest show of success. Secretary Bristow, Attorney General Perrepont and Postmaster General Jewsell all have presented reasons for his removal, any one of which would be sufficient. Richard Harrington, formerly Assistant District Attorney under Fisher, and Charies P. Fisher, a son, have both been since the order of suspension was issued busily engaged in the production of the American Team.
